Unofficial List of Members an Interesting Study by Comparison.

CRUMPACKER IS RE-ELECTED

South's Bitterest Enemy Survives Republican Slump in Indiana.

BY C. A. BOYCE,

Those who follow systematically the great game of American politics discover some interesting features discover some interesting features resulting from the recent congressional elections by comparing the unofficial list of members of the Sixty-First Congress with the membership of the present House.

Although there is no sweeping change in the general result, the Republicans still holding an overwhelming majority, the switching of various districts from one party-to another in many States, North, South, East and West, is at once remarkable.

The most striking instances of this are to be found in North Carolina, Oklahoms, Colorado, Indiana, Nebraska, Missouri and Ohio.

oklahoma, Colorado, Indiana, Nebraska, Missouri and Ohio.

The North Carolina situation is a real enigma. The State gave Bryan for President and Kitchin for Governor about 49,000, and yet the Republicans captured three out of the ten Congressmen from the State. The delegation is solidly Democratic in the present House, but the Fifth, Eighth and Tenth Districts, all in the western part of the State, send Republicans to the Sixty-First Congress.

Oklahoma, the baby State, which gave nearly 190,000 majority for its new Constitution on a direct issue between the two parties and elected four Democrats out of the five representatives in the present House, made a long Jump toward Republicanism, electing three Republicans and two Democratics.

ciean sweep. The delegation in the present Congress stands; Democrats, 4; Republicans, 9. In the next House the party division will be; Democrats, 9; Republicans, 2.

Of the two representatives only one is a member of the present House, the other being a new man. The former, Judge E. D. Crumpacker, of Valparaiso, is the South's bitterest enemy in either branch of the Federal Congress. The Democratic harrow which uproofed and pressed his famous bill provides and pressed his famous bill provides for a reduction in Southern representation in the lower House, because of the distranchisement of the negro in many of the States. His old "side-partner" in this work, General J. Warter, which was joint patron of the measure at the last session, was also re-elected, and it is expected that they will offer it again when the new Congress convenes. It is thought that there is enough of convertible in the Congress convenes. It is the purpose of the company when the new Congress convenes, it is thought that there is enough of convertible in the Congress of the States of thought that there is enough of convertible in the Congress of the State is reserved.

nephew, A. L. Bishop, last night, when he attempted to collect a board bill from the latter, which was alleged to be past due. The uncle, who is the smaller man of the two, showed many marks about his face as the result of the conflict. Young Bishop was arrested by Sergeant Alec. Wright. It seems that up to some time ago, A. L. Bishop, the nephew, had been boarding with his uncle. For some reason he left recently, leaving behind him a good sized bill, and taking up his quarters at No. 4 East Fifth Street. Last night when his uncle appeared at his new boarding-house and asked for his bill, the younger and larger man without ado set upon him and administered a severe beating. Mr. Bishop's nephew is a blacksmith.

The uncle immediately swore out two warrants, charging his nephew with beating his board bill and assaulting him.
